THE NATIONAL HOLIDAY

Celebrate it by wearing one of
RADFORD & SON'S Imported Oxford Shirts and handsome Windsor
Scarfs.

Mowers and Horse Rakes.

The "Canadian New Model Mower," manufactured by us for some years past and improved for 1892, is offered this season as a perfect machine, with front cut, perfect tilling and lifting arrangement, simple and compact gearing, combining strength and lightness of draft, and perfect control by the driver.

We invite inspection of this machine.

We challenge competition.

The new Model Mower is the peer of any Mower in the market, and therefore we say to the farmers of this district: "Why go abroad for an article you may have at home?"

The new model mowers is the peer of any mower in the market, and therefore we say to the farmers of this district: "Why go abroad for an article you may have at home?" Our home industry and circulate your money in these counties. Our prices are the lowest." Our terms are most reasonable.

We are turning out this season the usual number of our celebrated "Ithaca Hand-Dump," and "Centennial Self-Dump Horse Rakes." We think our reputation in this line for furnishing an A 1 article is well enough established by our twenty years manufacture of Horse Rakes. If you wish a first-class article in this line we can supply you at prices which cannot be beaten. A few of those celebrated "Iron Duke" Corn Cultivators are yet unsold, which will be disposed of at bottom figures to make room for other implements.

Repairs for implements always on hand.
Sections for mowers and Reaper Knives, 10 cts.
Very best quality of Machine Oil, 60c. per gallon.
We want your patronage and can give you satisfaction.

opponents and even give space to their electoral addresses. Here each candidate issues to his constituents a formal declaration of his principles a fortnight or so before the election. Of course there are three or four of these, say, Gladstone's Balfour's, Morley's and Chamberlain's—which possess a certain value, like the letters of acceptance of Presidential candidates, as laying down and defining the issues on which the battle will be fought. In America we would take all the lesser people's principles for granted; but here every one of over 1,000 candidates, gets his address into the papers somewhere, and at least 50 of them crowd their way into the London press as items of general campaign intelligence. So, to, there is much quiet fun provided for trans-Atlantic students of the situation by the bombshell effect that produced over here in the Tory-ranks. Only one line of it has been cabled over, that in which he said protectionists had a right to be cheerful when they found Salisbury a convert to their doctrines; but this was quite enough. Every dead wall in Sheffield, Birmingham, Leeds and other industrial centres in the great manufacturing districts is being placarded with it. Liberals from the north with whom I talked say that it forms the most powerful weapon they could possibly have asked for. It will be especially servicable in the work of redeeming Lancashire, which swung heavily against Gladstone in 1886, but which will be now most easily rallied against a party which is described as a convert by the author of the McKinley bill. Of course there is a good deal of unfairness in all this. Ninety-five per cent of the Tory Unionist party is as honestly wedded to free trade principles and as frankly convinced of the value of free trade to Great Britain as Gladstone himself. It is only two or three unconsidered underlings like Jim Lowther and Howard Vincent who as a rule talk protection nonsense, and occasionally stampedede gatherings of party agents and district managers by eloquent tariff flapdoodle. It is the misfortune of that party, though, to have at its head, a nobleman who is magnificently ignorant and contemptuous of what workaday England thinks and feels and who has a grim sort of delight in letting this be known. That remark about protection at Hastings was one of those sardonic lapses of his which met with such a prompt, reverberating outcry of dissent from the whole party that he has never opened his mouth since. Now, just as his party leaders were hoping the country had forgotten that unhappy "Betise," along comes McKinley to remind everybody of it and jeopardize the Tory chances in dozens of districts where their chances were good before. But, funniest of all is as an anti-Gladstonian in North Lambeth. We have only had one day of it so far. If the rest measures up to yesterday's example, England will be too sore with laughing properly to cheer by the time election returns begin to come in. If there is one thing which a candidate for an urban English constituency absolutely must possess it is a good temper. Without this he is like the man who fell out of a balloon—simply not in it. Speaking from a tolerably wide acquaintance with my fellow creatures I should call Stanley the least good-tempered man I know. There are lots of important men who bear criticism badly. With Stanley this inability amounts to disease. Several years ago I spent perhaps altogether 40 hours in his company at the time of the Congo conference. At least 35 of this 40 he occupied in describing bitterly upon the hostile comments American papers had passed upon his methods and manner as a lecturer. He had all these pasted in scrap books, the edges worn with much reading. I got the impression that he went over them daily, reviving the store of gall and wormwood in his mind. Certain it was that he knew them all by heart. To confront such a temperament with the irreverent scoffs and givings of a Surrey side crowd was certain

McKINLEY'S NEW YORK SPEECH

MR STANLEY'S CAMPAIGN

NEWS FROM THE COUNTRY

Wilton.

There was a large attendance at the Methodist Sunday School picnic at Varty Lake on the 18th. Everyone enjoyed themselves immensely.

Rev. Sanderson and family arrived on Saturday, when a reception was given them by the ladies of the congregation.

A large number of people attended the Free Methodist Camp-meeting at Verona on Sunday.

Croydon.

The ball at Johnnie Quirns last Tuesday night was well attended. The crowd did not leave until 5 or 6 o'clock Wednesday morning. Several couples, who attended the ball, got drunk and hung round town two or three nights longer, causing business men to close up early.

Some of the boys attended Mr. Brault's raising bee last Saturday. The frame of a good sized hive is still on the result of the day's work.

The bee prevented some of the boys enjoying a trip to the Thousand Islands.

A prayer meeting was held at Orchard Hill school house. Marsh and others attended from Croydon, but they didn't all come back together. It was not Mar. h's fault altogether for how could he help it when she up and asked him.

Centreville.

Mr. Elitor, allow me space in your columns to chronicle the few events which have taken place in this town lately.

On Friday last a large number of Masons assembled here about noon to witness the dedication of the new Masonic Hall which was conducted by Mr. S. C. Warner, of Napanee. They then took dinner at Kennedy's hotel, after which they proceeded up to the church. A splendid sermon was preached to a large congregation by Rev. F. B. Stratton, of Trenton.

On the same day government cheese inspector Prof. McKeov a visit to the Centre-ville cheese factory for the purpose of giving information to any cheese makers who might be present. We hear that quite a number attended from different parts of the county.

Next Sabbath is to be flower Sunday. Preaching in the evening by Rev. H. I. Allen.

We hear there are plenty of strawberries and ice cream to be had just now. But the trouble is it don't last long, so you had better take a taste while it is going.

Victoria.

Crops this season are progressing so favorably that should we get no more rain we would be favorably fixed for a crop. The new bridge across Big Creek is nearly completed. It is a fine structure.

The garden party at Mr. John Johnston's lawn on Tuesday of last week was an entire success financially, a large crowd being present. Seems some of the speakers were not heartily accepted by all present. Too bad.

Mr. Har. Denyes has returned from Albert College, Belleville.

Mr. Fred Denyes has gone to the Military Camp at Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Snider have returned from a week's sojourn with Mr. Jeremiah Snider and wife, of Hamilton, and friends in Toronto.

Several people attended the launching of the iron clad boat at Col. In's bay the other day.

Still our cheese factory seems to lag behind, as both "Farmers' Friend" and Odessa factories have paid higher prices for the milk for May and April than has "Metzie's."

Rumors say a wedding at the east end of the 5th con. soon.

Strawberries are now in full blast. Every one is enjoying the fruits thereof.

T. N. Denyes has his addition to his barn nearly completed.

Mr. Lewis Hartman is erecting a new drive house.

SULLIVAN'S TALL STORY.

Ingeniously Inhuman Conduct with Which He Charges a Farmer.

Ten days ago Henry Sullivan, a prosperous farmer and cattle raiser of Forsythe, Mo., left home to go to a neighboring town, where he purposed buying a number of cattle. Since that time nothing was heard of him until to-day, when he walked into his home looking so haggard, unkempt, and disreputable that no one recognized him. He told a strange story of his mishaps while absent which investigation substantiates.

Some time ago, in making a deal with Charles Wilson, a farmer, Sullivan got the best of him to the extent of several thousand dollars. This so preyed upon Wilson, a eccentric bachelor, that he determined upon a fiendish revenge. In a deep cañon near the road which Sullivan travelled was a large cave which no one had ever explored, and which was reputed to be the den of ferocious wild animals and venomous reptiles.

Assaulting Sullivan at a point near the cave, Wilson dragged his captive into it. Stripping him naked, he bound him firmly to a giant column and left him. Here, with the slime from the cave dripping on him and with vermin, bugs and repulsive worms crawling over him, Sullivan spent several days of unspeakable agony and misery.

It was not his captor's plan to kill him at once. He was to die by inches. Each day he visited Sullivan, bringing with him just food enough to prolong life and to make his sufferings a thousand times worse than the agony of death. What Sullivan suffered, he says, can never be told. It was worse than the torments of hell. His fiendish captor would bring heaped-up dishes of food, and, placing it just beyond his reach, would gloat over his agony. A week of this and the prisoner was so weak and mentally such a wreck that Wilson, fearing he might die before he had satisfied his revenge, adopted milder tactics, and fed him liberally for a few days.

In one of the efforts made with revived strength Sullivan broke his bonds and fled. He found his way home and told his pitiful story to his wife, who started the authorities on the track of the inhuman Wilson. The latter has fled, and, as yet, no traces of him have been found. If he is caught no court of justice will try him.

Sullivan is a mental and physical wreck as the result of his sufferings in the cave of horrors.—Philadelphia Press.

A Woman With a Hairpin.

"What a woman can do with a hairpin" is thus amusingly set forth in a Scottish paper: "A woman can do more with a hairpin than a man can do with any one instrument in existence. The takes it to button her boots, to crimp her hair, to fasten her hat on, to button her gloves and the waist buttons of her dress, and to pin her veil. She can use it as a paperknife or a book-mark, to open a letter or to draw a device upon a seal. If she twists the ends it becomes a tape-needle, or a safety-pin, or a key-ring. It is a very decent bodkin. In an emergency it is as good as an ordinary pin; better, in fact, for it can be made to do double duty. It supplies many of the missing intricacies of buckles, suspenders and supporters, and repairs any damaged domestic article requiring a few inches of wire and a little feminine ingenuity. A woman traces a pattern with a hairpin dipped in her shoe-blackening; and smoked in the gas, she uses it to pencil her eyebrows. If her husband is not at home, she will take it to clean his pipe or cigarette-holder. And after he has broken his pocket-knife and hunted helplessly all over the house for a "piece of wire," she will draw her hairpin with a pitying look and clear out the gas-burner or re-open the waste-pipe of the stationary bowl. A woman can use a hairpin as a corkscrew for any kind of bottle she cares to open. Ever ready to her hand, whether she uses it to pick her trunk lock or trim a lamp wick, to mend her bracelet or her bustle, she handles it with a dexterous grace and a confident skill.

GLENORA AND LAKE ON THE MOUNTAIN

The Glen House,

Newly furnished and fitted with the latest improvements, under the management of MRS. JOHN CHRISTIE, late of Davy's Island, is now open for the season of 1892.

As a summer resort the above has few superiors.

The Lake on the Mountain, and the splendid views obtainable therefrom, being a source of great attraction to the many visitors to the neighborhood.

The GLEN HOUSE is picturesquely situated at the foot of the mountain on the Bay of Quinte, and is very convenient of access. The Bay Steamers Hero and Hindoe calling at the wharf twice daily, and the Alexandria calling once a week, returning from Montreal. Anyone wishing to have a few days fishing, will find this a most convenient rendezvous; and also others who are on the lookout for a pleasant place to spend their vacation will find a general welcome from the hostess.

THE BRITISH ELECTIONS.

The New York Times correspondent says:—For the next four weeks all events in foreign parts, whether cloudbursts or appearance of cholera, deaths of great personages or crazy outbreaks of persons who used to be great, will be passed by with the merest cursory glance by the inhabitants of these British Isles. There is nothing now of interest to them but the general election. No British mind has room for anything but politics. General election time, fortunately, always develops a curious train of humorous events and episodes to relieve its inherent monotony. American observers would, perhaps, consider the funniest thing of all the solemn way in which violent party organs print at length the speeches of their principal them all by heart. To confront such a temperament with the irrelevant scoffs and givings of a Surrey side crowd was certain the consequence. The Thames from Westminster, and contains a big percentage of that historically rough, free and easy river population, which the making of the embankment cleared away from the Middlesex side a quarter of a century ago. The most important factory in the district is Doulton's famous pottery works, and Sir Henry Doulton, who is a distant relative of Stanley's wife, gave his workmen an extra hour at luncheon to listen to the outdoor address by the candidate. These assembled also, just outside the enclosure, a big crowd who were not workmen at Doulton's. These fellows it was, who started to guy Stanley, as they would Gladstone or the Prince of Wales or anybody else. At the first note of contradiction he started as if shot, grew livid with amazement, then red with rage, and stood at a loss for words. Seeing he was such an easy victim, others took in him hand, till the contagion spread to Doulton's workmen themselves, and the speaker's every sentence was punctuated with mocking cries and the shouting of unpleasant questions. He lost his head utterly, and his wife at his side had to prompt him in stage whispers, to the crowd's visible delight. They baited him about his nationality, his changing his name, his conduct towards the rear guard and his wiser ignorance of London's political, social and industrial issues till he was speechless with wrath and confusion. Then his wife sprang forward in a desperate attempt to save the situation. She began with crying out: "Two years ago I voted for Henry Morton Stanley in Westminster Abbey and I want you all to vote for him now," which was greeted with wild howls of derisive laughter and ironic cheers. The unhappy woman struggled through a long frantic eulogy of her husband, screaming out disjointed sentences between roars of jeering tumult, she capped the climax by declaring that his defeat would be a disgrace to Lambeth, because he was the greatest man living in England at the present moment. Then the crowd fairly doubled up with merriment and split the skies with yells of disrespectful delight, and the Stanley party drove away, followed to Vauxhall Bridge by the shouts of mockery. In the evening husband and wife tried it on again in a hall, admission to which was by ticket. But even there the hostile forces were in a majority and guyed both speakers mercilessly. Finally they broke up the meeting in turbulent confusion. The division went Tory last time by 112, but it looks now as if Stanley would be beaten by twice that figure, if indeed he does not throw up the contest in disgust before nomination day. Of

there is little to say, save that the Liberal hopes are steadily rising as the fight proceeds. They always counted on a number of gains among London's 59 seats but the enthusiasm in the metropolis is so overwhelmingly on their side so far that new prospects of success are opened to their astonished eyes daily. London's elections will be amongst the earliest in the Kingdom, mostly on the 5th, 6th and 7th of July and if the promise of to-day is at all fulfilled, the effect of Liberal gains here will have a prodigious effect on the later polling of the country at large. Nothing is said in the London organs of either side about Dilke's candidature in the forest of Dean where he will be elected by the biggest majority that Radical stronghold ever gave. His opponent is a young landlord who has set a pleasant example of English gentility by refusing the personal element to be introduced at any of his meetings and by writing courteous letters to his opponent. Lady Henry Somerset, flushed with excitement over her great self-advertising success in America, proposed to go into the district and make a campaign in the interest of morality, but the Tory candidate courtly begged her to pursue her glory elsewhere and leave the Forest alone. Dilke was in Yorkshire on June 25 the chief figure at a gathering of 80,000 at Wakefield. Not a hint of this is to be found in the London papers, but the party managers on both sides are giving deep and anxious thoughts to the problem of Dilke's power and intentions in a new House. With this fury of campaigning taking possession of the whole country, it is hardly possible to keep much track of what the rest of Europe is doing.

The Sunday School picnic was a decided success. There were about three hundred persons present, Wilton, Yarker and other places being well represented. The programme was good and the tables were loaded with the delicacies of the season.

Other features of the day were, a football match for all comers, a base ball match between the awkward nine, of Sharpton, and the nameless nine of this place, resulting in an easy victory for the latter. The score stood Nameless nine 11, Awkward nine-6.

The little boys had races, jumping etc., to their full satisfaction.

On Friday, the 1st the masons of this place turned out in full force to fetterize with the brethren of Centerville, who dedicated their new masonic hall. The masons from Napanee, Bath, Odessa and Harrowsmith, came to lend a helping hand. After a dedicatory service was ended they took dinner at Kennedy's hotel, and then proceeded to the church, where right worshipful Bro. F. B. Statton gave them a sermon full of gospel and in merriment. About one hundred masons participated and all were loud in their praises of the Centerville brethren.

Quite an excitement prevailed on the street by the sudden appearance of a man crazed with liquor. He attempted to paint the town red and had nearly demolished all the spittoons in the Huffman house, when the proprietor swore out a warrant and constable Perry arrested him. After a hard tussle he managed to cage his man. He will appear before justice Aylsworth, on Wednesday, to show cause why he acted so disorderly.

A remarkable set of chessmen has just been completed by an American mechanic. The pieces are made of silver bronze, and the period of costume and equipment is A. D. 1194, all the characters being historical and contemporary and strictly accurate in every detail of heraldic blazonry and costume. The knights are in chain-mail armor, with shield, axe, sword and dagger. Their fur coats have each the individual blazon of the wearer. The queens wear royal robes and carry sceptres. The bishops are in church vestments, with cross and crozier. The pawns are men at arms in a kneeling posture, with spear, bill-hook and knife. The white men are English, the black French. The English king and queen are Richard I. and his Berengaria. The bishops are Herbert Walter, archbishop of Canterbury, and William Longchamps, bishop of Ely; and the knights are the Earl of Salisbury and Baron of Worcester. The castle is Anglo-Norman, and is a perfectly accurate representation of feudal architecture. The French king and queen are Philip and Ingeborg, his Danish spouse, the bishops being de Dreux and de Sully, of Beauvais and Paris. The knights are also well-known men of the twelfth century, and the castle is Franco-Norman. The set has taken upwards of six years to make.—New York Home Journal.

Grow Straight Trees.

The tendency of fruit trees to grow one-sided, and larger on the north than on the south side, is very remarkable in some places. At the South Dakota experiment station, the orchard was pruned twice during the season by pinching back the new growth on the north side. The best method was found to be in pinching back the tips of the branches on the north side, thus permitting the branches on the south side to catch up with, or even surpass, the north side. It is important to keep the south side of the tree heavier, as it thus shades the trunk and larger branches, thereby preventing sun scald. If all superfluous branches are rubbed or pinched off as soon as they make their appearance, the tree has not to expend superfluous energy, will mature better and last longer. Eastern fruit growers do not experience this trouble very much, but it is well to take heed of this and grow straight, symmetrical trees.

A Feline Chicken Fancier.

A citizen of Portland, Ind., claims to be the owner of a large tomcat who long ago developed a great love for the companionship of the poultry tribe. A Curious Experiment.

Photographing under water has actually been carried out, so it is said. Experiments were made in 1889 in the Mediterranean to ascertain how far daylight penetrated under water. In very clear water, near Corsica, and eighteen miles from land, the limit of daylight was found by means of photographic plates to be 1,580 feet.

THEY DESERVE NO EXTRAS.

Toronto Telegram:—Party business adds length and expensiveness to the sessions of parliament. The time taken to discuss Laprairie post office jobs and the Gerry-mander act is worse than wasted. Sessions would be short and both the country and members would be money ahead, if the powers of parliament were never prostituted to the service of mere partisan ends. In resisting the gerrymander the Liberals are protecting themselves and serving the country. It costs money to do this and temptation to go in for an extra indemnity is strong. Yet it is the duty of the opposition to withstand temptation and to force the Conservatives who are gerrymandering the country for party advantage to do the evil work at their own expense.

"German Syrup"

A Throat and Lung Specialty.

Those who have not used Boschee's German Syrup we do not ask easy cases. Sugar and water may smooth a throat or stop a tickling—for a while. This is as far as the ordinary cough medicine goes. Boschee's German Syrup is a discovery, a great Throat and Lung Specialty. Where for years there have been sensitiveness, pain, coughing, spitting, hemorrhage, voice failure, weakness, slipping down hill, where doctors and medicine and advice have been swallowed and followed to the gulf of despair, where there is the sickening conviction that all is over and the end is inevitable, there we place German Syrup. It cures. You are a live man yet if you take it.

the tariff question. All the forces available for protection will be on the side of Harrison; but recent events show a decided change in American opinion as to the advisability of continuing a high tariff, and we hope to see the triumph of Cleveland. Protection dies hard, however, the manufacturers being generally a wealthy class, and able and willing to spend money freely on their own behalf. The platform of the Democrats demands a tariff for revenue purposes only, denounces protection as a fraud, and insists that the robbery of the millions for the benefit of the millionaires must cease.

OUR local contemporary is nothing if not misleading. Its articles have seldom the merit of being logical, but this is made up for in part by the fact that they are nearly always amusing. In no issue of that journal is this better exemplified however than in that of last week in an article dealing with the proposition submitted to the House by Sir Richard Cartwright in opposition to the infamous redistribution bill which the government is now doing its best to force upon the country—a bill so odious that even Messrs. McCarthy and O'Brien, both supporters of the government, took exception to, —as being wrong in principle and unworthy of the support of honest or honorable men, as it is unworthy of any government, much less one which has so strong a following in the House, as has that of Abbott and Thompson. It is true that Sir Richard Cartwright did propose, as a minimum of the evils sought to be imposed upon the people of this province, to unite South Grenville and North Leeds, as well as Lennox and Frontenac, in order that the extra representation sought might be given to Toronto and Algoma, but that either Sir Richard Cartwright or Messrs. Mills and Laurier are "committed to the plan of depriving this county of an independent representative" we deny. Nor is this borne out by the conduct of either of these gentlemen in their discussion of the matter, for even the Beaver admits that "only a day or two before the "Reformers all voted against any "division or cutting up of the counties "for representative purposes." Step by step have these gentlemen as well as every Reform member in the House opposed the iniquity of the provisions of this bill, and it was as a last resort, and being the least of the evils likely to be imposed, that they were willing to assent to this proposition at all. Men may be driven into accepting many things which are not palatable or pleasing to them, because by doing so they are accepting the least of two evils and this, we contend, is the position which Messrs. Cartwright, Mills and Laurier were forced into in order that a score or two of other constituencies might escape being cut and carved by the governing party under the plea of equalization, but in reality to make a few more safe Tory ridings. But again, if it had been the desire of these gentlemen to unite the counties named, would they have voted a day or two before, or at all, "against any division or cutting up of the counties for representative purposes," and actually against any tampering with county boundaries? The thing is absurdly ridiculous, and hardly needs to be pointed out to intelligent men to show the nonsensical reasoning of those who will stoop to anything in order, if possible to make a little local political capital. Who then is dividing and cutting up counties for representative purposes, and why was it necessary for the Reformers to vote against it? Is it the Tories? Well yes, and for of Lennox and that the township is bounded by the township of Kingston in the county of Frontenac on the east and that instead of a dozen of miles or more intervening between Lennox and Frontenac there is actually no distance at all. But lest some of our readers have not seen the reference to this matter in the Beaver we give its own words as follows;

Of course every intelligent reader of the Beaver knows that no part of Lennox county proper lies within a dozen miles or more of Frontenac, and the two parts of a county such as Sir Richard and his supporters now propose to patch up, could not be reached from each other without travelling entirely across Addington.

The object of our contemporary is, of course, to show that it is a geographical impossibility to unite the two counties named and thus it succeeds in nothing so well as in showing its own ignorance of the geography of its own county. Ernestown is to-day as much a part of the county of Lennox as is Richmond or Fredericksburg and the sooner our contemporary learns and recognizes the fact the less liable will it be to be laughed at or ridiculed as an educator of the people. We append that part of Sir Richard's proposition under discussion. Hansard reports him as follows:

Sir Richard Cartwright. Hon. gentleman opposite have invited suggestions; they have declared that they desire as far as possible to have a fair and just redistribution measure, they have laid down several principles; they desire, as they tell us, to have a minimum of disturbance, they desire to have as few constituencies meddled with as possible. The Minister of Militia has just expressed his regret that he was obliged to disturb some of these constituencies now under consideration, and he would have preferred to have given the members to those constituencies, had the growth of Ontario permitted, without any disturbance. I am going to make a proposition to hon. gentlemen opposite which will be, I think, on the face of it in accordance with all the principles they have laid down, which will be perfectly fair and just, which will equalize as far as may be the representation, and which will meet in one word as nearly as possible all the conditions laid down on several occasions by the

THE PROTEST.

The protest has by order of Mr. Justice Falconbridge been fixed for trial for November 14th, so on that date we will know to a certainty, so far as a court of justice can penetrate these matters, by what means Mr. U. Wilson was elected to represent the riding of Lennox in the house of Commons. The readers of the EXPRESS will be pleased to know that evidence upon oath will be taken and a full investigation had into the acts of the respondent and his followers, but some will be disappointed to hear that the trial will not be had until the middle of November. Upon the hearing before the judge Mr. Aylesworth who was acting for the petitioner asked to have the trial fixed for an earlier date. This proposition was opposed by the counsel for the respondent on the ground that he (Mr. Wilson) would not have time to prepare for trial. The election was held in February last and our member has known ever since that his election was under protest, yet six months are not enough to prepare for trial. We have always understood that innocent men were always ready for the light and feared no investigation. The judge however fixed the 14th of November not so much out of consideration for the respondent's plea for time but owing to the fact that during the greater portion of September and October the judges would be engaged in the fall circuits. Leave was also granted to the respondent to issue an order for particulars to be delivered at least fifteen days before the trial. It is the duty of every elector in the riding who respects his country and his own good name and who believes in honest government and fair play to pin this date NOVEMBER 14th. 1892. in their

The Napanee Express.

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, JULY 1, 1892.

THE Manitoba Legislature was dissolved on Monday, polling takes place on July 23rd.

THE Hon. Edward Blake and his son sailed from Rimouski on Saturday last, in the Allan Line steamship Parisian. He will be returned for the North Division of Longford county, and will reach the old country in time to take an active part in the election campaign.

IN January last, it will be remembered, Messrs. Symington and Wilson were candidates for the deputy-receiver, Mr Wilson being elected. The other day Mr Wilson was elected county clerk, and consequently had to resign his position on the Town Council. Hence in all fairness, Mr Symington should now be elected as deputy reeve for the balance of the year. Our friends of the Conservative party say they do not want all the offices and have been talking compromise, and thus got their nominee, Mr Wilson, elected as clerk. Turn about is fair play, and speaking for the Reform party, we claim that Mr Symington should be deputy-reeve for the balance of the year, and thus save the cost of a contest. If it is decided to do other than this, the ratepayers will appreciate at its proper value the cry of economy often heard on the lips of municipal conservatives about election time.

THE value of the energetic opposition to the Gerrymander was demonstrated the other day when the Government abandoned some of the worst features of the proposed bill having reference to the province of Quebec. The Tory press, and "loyal" Tories outside of the press, have been talking about the waste of time caused by the Grits in opposing the rascally legislation as set forth by Sir John Thompson, but the result justifies their continued opposition. It may be very irksome to some of the Tory members to be made to attend a long session, and at least make a show of earning their indemnity; but it is the duty of all representatives who have any respect for themselves or regard for their country to resist any unjust legislation to the very uttermost, even though Parliament should sit until Christmas. The Tories who are shouting the most about the "waste" and expense of a long session, have not yet been heard from as to the boodling of Sir Adolphe Caron, nor of its cost to the country.

THE nomination of Mr Cleveland for President by the Democrats is a marked step in advance as viewed by tariff reformers. Liberals everywhere will watch the contest with interest, the Democrats being faithful to the

for the Reformers to vote against it? Is it the Tories? Well yes, and for once the Beaver indirectly admits the cutting and slashing proposed to be done in order that a couple of representatives may be given to the larger places named is done by its own party. We have no interest in defending Sir Richard Cartwright or anybody else and would not do so in this case had he not used every argument, in common with every reformer in the House, to induce the government to take a more honorable course, and distribute the counties in accordance with equity, having regard to the various municipal and county boundaries. It is no crime in the eyes of some men to legislate half a dozen reformers out of the House and to do away with a Wentworth and one or two others in a part of the country where reformers are strong in numbers, but it would be according to these same men a heinous crime to make any changes at or near their own homes. To show the iniquity and unfairness of the redistribution bill of 1882 (and this one is equally pernicious) we need only refer to the fact that in the general elections of last year the reformers had a majority of more than 7,000 of the popular vote, and yet the government elected some four or five more members to the House of Commons than did the party who outvoted them by the number stated. This in itself should convince every fair-minded man that our opponents are unscrupulous and that the present Bill is anything but fair to the opposition and is an infringement on the rights of the people, calculated as it is to advantage one party at the expense of the other, and that, too when there is so little gain in the population of the province. Not only did Sir Richard Cartwright and reformers support Mr McCarthy's amendment, but they asked the government to appoint a committee composed of both parties to consider the details of a measure which would be fair to both parties according to British practice. This was of course rejected, and the same parties then tried to limit the gerrymander to those provinces where the increase of population called for changes. This was also voted down and every reasonable objection emanating from them has been answered by the order to "call in the members." The clauses referring to Prince Edward Island, which is virtually intended to relegate Mr Davies, the leader of the opposition in that province, to private life, also called forth hostile criticism from no less than three government supporters, as well as the whole of the Liberals in the House, and no matter how much interested parties may try to make people believe that the ministerialists are acting in unison on this question, the fact remains that many of them are heartily ashamed of the Bill and are only kept under control by the party whip, and the fear that if they show any independence the government may bring such pressure to bear among their constituents as to leave them at home at another election.

In conclusion we would just say that while we are not surprised at the utterances of our contemporary in dealing with the proposition under consideration (for it enables it to have a fling at the hated Cartwright) we are more than surprised at its ignorance of the boundaries of this country. One would think that a resident of Napanee for the best part of a lifetime would know what townships constitute the county or riding in which he lives, but it seems that he does not, or did not know, that the township of Frontenac is part of the riding of representation, and which will meet in one word as nearly as possible all the conditions laid down on several occasions by the Minister of Justice, repeated on the present occasion by the Minister of Militia and advocated by a good many of the hon. gentlemen opposite who have spoken on this subject. The blot on this measure, as everybody knows perfectly well, is this: that the constituencies, as a mass, which lie west of the city of Toronto are scarcely represented in accordance with their population. The 35 constituencies which lie east of Toronto are at this moment represented utterly disproportionately to their numerical strength. Those 35 constituencies, as I pointed out a few nights ago, contain nearly 688,000 people. They have 35 members. On an average 19,700 people east of Toronto have as great a voice in the representation of this country as 23,200 people west of Toronto. That, I submit, is a blot and a very great and palpable blot on the scheme of redistribution proposed. What is overlooked all through this discussion is the very great discrepancy which is apparent, a great many instances of which I gave a few nights ago, between the western and eastern sections. All sorts of absurd attempts have been made to equalize the population and account for the discrepancy, but the bare fact remains that east of Toronto you have a population of less than 700,000 with 35 representatives, that east of Toronto the average constituency has a population of 3,200 below the unit, while west of Toronto the constituencies have populations several hundreds above the unit. I grant that hon. gentlemen opposite, if they disturb the representation at all, are justified in adding a representative to Toronto and a representative to Algoma; but if they refuse to adopt the proposition of the hon. member for Bothwell (Mr. Mills) to go to the root of the matter and have a reasonable distribution which would do away with the iniquities of the gerrymander of 1882, then, on every ground of fair play, they are bound to take the two additional representatives wanted for Toronto and Algoma from the district which lies east of Toronto, which is to-day represented to the extent of 20 per cent more than it is legally entitled to. The suggestion which I am about to propose is briefly this: Let us take the four smallest constituencies in Ontario, which as it happens lie contiguous to one another and let us unite those four 2 and 2. Thereby we will obtain with a minimum of disturbance and perfect equity and fairness the two representatives desired for Toronto and the district of Algoma. Let us not interfere or meddle with any other of the constituencies in the province. In that way the only disturbance will be in connection with those four constituencies and the granting the two members to Toronto and Algoma. It is perfectly well known that there are in the east four constituencies containing smaller population than the constituencies which hon. gentlemen opposite propose to disturb. There is North Leeds and Grenville, with a population of 12,900, and South Grenville with a population of 13,000. I propose that you should unite those two constituencies into one, which would have a population of 26,000 at the outside. They are not by any means growing counties and are not likely to increase in population. You will even then have constituencies very considerably smaller than a very large number of the constituencies in the west. You would have a constituency smaller than Essex South, than Essex North, smaller than Kent, smaller than East Simcoe, smaller than North Simcoe, smaller than East York, smaller than West York, smaller in fact, than half a dozen of the constituencies that lie to the westward. They would give you one of your members, and by uniting the Counties of Frontenac and Lennox, one with a population of 14,000 and the other of about 13,000 you could obtain a small unit out of these smaller constituencies, which if you chose to unite the suburb of Portsmouth to the city of Kingston would give you a constituency very little in excess of the unit. I point out to the House that in that way you will have the minimum of disturbance, and you will redress partially the enormous inequality that now exists between these two sections of the province which are east and west of Toronto. You will also have an opportunity of giving effect to all the declarations that have been made that the Government desires only to do what is fair and just. Nothing could be fairer or more just than to take these two seats from these 35 constituencies, which are very much over represented. After these two seats are taken away from the territory east of Toronto you will still have 33 members for a population of 688,000—that is to say, the unit will continue to be at least 2,000 and more below the regular unit upon which representation ought to be readjusted. You will do no injustice in good name and who believes in honest government and fair play to pin this date, NOVEMBER 14th, 1892, in their hat and to remember that on that date the doings of Uriah Wilson and his agents at the last election will be ventilated. It will be well to remember too that Mr. Wilson can also on that day be called upon to account for any personal acts of his of a questionable character during the campaign of 1891. Those in charge of the petition inform us that they have met with hearty co-operation in their efforts to collect evidence from all parts of the riding. The reports sent in indicate care and careful research and the thanks of the Reform Association are due to the men who have so faithfully and diligently done this work. But don't stop there! Don't leave it to the committee appointed at the annual convention to do all this work! Let every Reformer report to head-quarters or to the nearest member of the committee all the evidence he has. It may appear trifling to you but you don't know what good turn it may serve. Hundreds of charges cannot be worked up by two or three men alone and the little bit of evidence that the indifferent Reformer has may be the missing link in a whole chain. Too much stress cannot be laid upon this point. The people of the riding are furnishing the money to push the protest forward and the people so far have furnished the evidence upon which the charges will be based. Do not be content when you know that enough is already in to unseat the present member. That is not all! Under the present law the proceedings before the court will partake more of the nature of an inquisition and the fullest investigation will be permitted. Sir John Thompson refused a committee to Mr. Edgar to investigate the Caron charges and invited him to proceed with them if he wished by means of an ordinary election trial, when he knew such a course was impossible. Such bluff and bluster is very well on the floor of the House. The electors of Lennox are not barred by any Statute of Limitations from investigating the way elections are won in this part of Ontario. Let us take Sir John Thompson at his word and enquire into the inner machinery of the Ontario "influence." Perhaps the revelations will not be much more cheering to him and his friend Mr. Haggart than were those of the Caron trial. The Reformers of Lennox have it in their power to make for themselves a name by taking the lead in this ventilating process. It is true you have no head-quarters from which you can draw your $1,000 or $2,000 to shove a protest. You have no bosses and sub-bosses ready to distribute the boodle bags, and the only hope for our country rests upon the fact that there is a party ready to rescue Canada from the tyrant's clutches—a party which has fought against boodle, bribery and corruption, a party whose leaders are honest men and whose principles, founded upon justice and equality must prevail over the policy of the present government which robs the poor to make the rich richer. The Reform party has ever been the standard bearer of honor and fair play. Now has come the time for the Reformers of Lennox to uphold the principles of the party to which they belong! Now you have an opportunity to vindicate your rights. You may set a noble example to your weaker brethren in other counties and manfully take this first step towards shaking off the oppressor's yoke. Let every man enter this protest with his whole heart and the result will amply repay you for all the money, time and trouble you have spent in pushing this matter to the extreme limit.

Children Cry for

ROBT. LIGHT.

There is no question that the sun's surface is intensely hot; and if so it must shine of necessity.

Next comes the question, "What makes it hot?"

Until the days of electricity nearly all our artificial lights came from flames in which something was burning; is the sun's surface, then, a burning flame?

No, it is too hot to burn.

The very essence of combustion, or burning, is that two or more chemical elements are entering into combination with each other, producing heat in the process. When a stick of wood burns the oxygen of the air is seizing upon and combining with the hydrogen and carbon that mainly compose the wood; and the molecules of carbon, after their hydrogen partners have combined with oxygen companions, themselves are attracted by other oxygen molecules, and glow and shine for a while until consumed and converted by the new union into the so-called carbonic acid. Now, this combination of oxygen and carbon produces a certain fixed temperature, which can never be exceeded by a flame involving those materials, and if the molecules of oxygen and hydrogen, or of oxygen and carbon come together at a higher temperature, i.e., in some place where it is already hotter than they could make it by their action, they refuse to combine. Nay, further, if vapor of water, or carbonic acid gas, be exposed to such a temperature their composite molecules come to pieces, so to speak—to use the technical term the hydrogen and oxygen or the carbon and oxygen are "dissociated"—to combine again as soon as the temperature falls sufficiently.

Now, the sun's surface is in all probability hotter than the "dissociation" temperature of any elements known to be present there, and this is what we mean by saying that the substances of the sun are "too hot to burn."

But there are other ways than burning by which heat may be generated and the temperature raised beyond any limit known.

A smith, by hammering a nail, with proper precautions, can make it red-hot. In boring a hole with a gimlet both wood and gimlet are heated. Sometimes car axles are heated by friction till they set the car on fire. In compressing air for certain machinery it is made intensely hot, so that means have to be used to prevent it doing damage.

Now it is believed that the sun is a great ball of gases and vapors, kept hot by its shrinkage in size.

There is no question that the shrinkage of such a ball under the force of the mutual attraction of its particles must heat it. It can be proved mathematically—it is not a mere matter of guesswork or opinion—that if the sun is now shrinking at such a rate that its diameter diminishes more than about 300 feet a year it must be growing continually hotter. If the shrinkage is less than this it may be cooling off slowly.

Almost all astronomers agree in supposing that at one time, ages ago, the sun was a great whirling nebula or cloud, filling the whole space now occupied by the solar system, and that the system has come into its present condition by the slow condensation of this primeval cloud. The smaller globes—the planets—have solidified and ceased to shrink to any great extent, and so have cooled down more or less completely, like the earth. But in the great central globe the process is not finished, and is not likely to be for millions of years to come, so that it still glows with a fiery heat that no furnace can rival, and blazes with a brilliance more dazzling than any human art can produce.

For myself I do not think it necessary to look farther for an explanation of the intensity of sunlight.

But there are some who do not feel quite satisfied and are disposed to call in the aid of electrical action.

It is true, of course, that a thing can be heated, and that to a temperature beyond any known limit, by passing through it an electric current of sufficient intensity. The carbon filament in an electric (incandescent) lamp is not "burning," but is made hot and luminous by the current flowing through it.

Those therefore, who are dissatisfied with the mechanical explanation of the solar heat as produced by shrinkage, maintain that the sun's light is generated by intense electric currents circulating upon its surface.

It would take too long to show why this is hardly likely and the discussion would not be suited to these columns; but there is no way known in which electric currents of sufficient power could be made to act over the whole surface of a sphere at once, earth. They returned to their places. I asked them what was the matter. They replied: 'El temblor! Didn't you feel the temblor?' To me it was a trifle. Two weeks later I was giving a swell dinner to the diplomatic corps in Santiago. In the midst of it came a tremor, a very lively one, and every man of the party leaped from his seat and rushed for the door or window. I said to myself, 'Of all the cowards I ever met with, these people exceed.' But, boys, I hadn't been in that country more than three months before no quarter-horse in Tennessee could beat me in a break for the front door when one of those temblors made his appearance. You can stand bullets and cannon balls, but the temblors will fetch you."—San Francisco Chronicle.

Oil From a Whale Calmed the Sea.

A terrific storm, driving before it a huge sea like a tidal wave, struck the British steamship Dewland on March 19 in latitude 41° 15', longitude 27° 20', while bound from Bilbao to Philadelphia, deep laden with Spanish iron ore. The wind blew with great fury from the northwest, and a heavy cross sea soon sprung up and broke over the vessel from all points of the compass. An effort was made to run the vessel before the wind, but without success. She would not pay off, owing to the heavy wind and sea, and a lull in the storm made it possible to put the vessel's head again to the sea. Still she labored heavily. But suddenly the waters subsided almost as quick as they had risen, when what appeared to be a black rock was seen some distance away. As the vessel approached closer it proved to be a dead whale of immense size. The carcass was at least six feet above the surface of the water, and covered with countless birds of all sizes and descriptions. A stream of sperm oil was oozing out upon the sea in all directions from the fatty derelict, which all hands believe had the effect of quelling the heavy sea. The efficacy of oil was first discovered by whalers watching the effect upon the sea near dead whales.—Philadelphia Record.

Changing Her Mind.

"The rooms will suit me exactly," said the lady who was on a house-hunting tour, and the price is reasonable; but—but I may as well tell you. We have six children."

"That will make no difference, ma'am," replied the owner of the flats. "We don't object to children."

"Then I'm sure I don't want the rooms," rejoined the lady, with decision. "This must be a dreadfully unfashionable neighborhood!"

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering, and crying with pain at cutting teeth? If so send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP. For children teething its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures Wind Colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP for children teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP, and take no other. C.Y.

THE IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT DIS-SOLVED YESTERDAY.

The New Parliament to Meet on August 4—Stanley Introduces His Wife as a Descendent of Oliver Cromwell—More Outrageous Cartoons.

LONDON, June 29.—The Royal Gazette yesterday publishes the Queen's proclamation dissolving Parliament and summoning the new Parliament to meet on Thursday, Aug. 4. The writs are being issued accordingly.

The Queen's speech proroguing Parliament says: The time has arrived when it is expedient that the electoral body of the country be consulted by the assembling of a new Parliament. I have therefore summoned you for prorogation at an earlier period than usual.

"I am glad to record that my friendly relations with foreign powers remain unaltered.

"Treaties have been duly ratified referring the differences with the United States with respect to the Behring Sea to arbitration."

Referring to the bills passed at the session just ended, the speech says that the arrangements that Parliament has made enabling workmen to purchase agricultural holdings will increase the class of cultivating owners, which is of great importance to the state.

The application to Ireland of the educational measures recently adopted in Great Britain will confer great benefits upon the people of that country.

The speech concludes: "In closing—this Parliament, which has been unusually laborious, and also highly fruitful in beneficent legislation, I thank you for the assiduous performance of your momentous duties during the past six years, and heartily commend you to the favor of Almighty God."

The report of Grand Secretary Thomas Lawless gives the present membership of the order 10,088. This is a net loss in membership within the year of 1747.

Tragic Death of a Miner in British Columbia From Lightning.

VICTORIA, B.C., June 29.—Word has reached here from the Slokan country of the tragic death of a miner. On Monday last two prospectors, Billy Tonkins and S. J. Tabor, started for Martin Fry's claims.

At 2 p.m. Tabor staggered into camp. His hair was singed close on both sides of his head, his whiskers were burned off and a smell of burnt hair and flesh filled the hut. His shoulders were found to be badly burned, his forearm was burned even worse, while in the middle of his stomach was a patch as big as a cheese plate burned brown. The fronts of both thighs were burned and the end was torn off his boots, while his clothes were rent by the lightning. In half an hour a gang of ten men were racing up the Breakneck side of the ridge, only to come down two hours later with some old coats fastened between two pine poles and the limp dead body of Tonkins wrapped in them. They found him under a little pine high up amongst the white boulders, rolled over on his side, struck apparently on the left side of the

ALLEGED POISONER NEILL

FURTHER CONCERNING HIS CANADIAN CAREER.

He Was Forced to Marry One of His Victims in Quebec—Arraigned in the London Police Court—The Testimony of a Police Decoy.

LONDON, June 29.—Thomas Neill was again brought up in Bow-street Police Court yesterday and was again remanded.

John Haynes became acquainted with Neill about a year ago, and, struck by his peculiarities, studied him closely. Neill talked to him about the poisoning of the Marsh and Shrivell girls.

Neill showed Haynes a notebook in which were entered, among other things, the initials of the women who had been poisoned, together with the dates of their deaths. There were initials which he said referred to Ellen Dodworth, Matilda Clover and the girls Marsh and Shrivell, and there were also the initials "L.H.," which Haynes said referred to a girl named Louisa Harvey.

Neill said that the Harvey girl had fallen dead on the street, between the Royal Music Hall and the London Pavilion, and that she was supposed to have died from natural causes, but was actually poisoned by the person whom the police mistook him for.

Violet Beverley was a former companion of Matilda Clover, and after the police became suspicious of Neill she played a bold part at their request. She continued to receive visits from Neill, but kept a close watch upon him to prevent him from poisoning her.

It is expected that a charge of murder will shortly be made against Neill.

DR. CREAM.

Further Concerning the Career of the Abortionalist-Poisoner.

MONTREAL, June 29.—As the career of Thomas Neil, or Dr. Thomas Neil Cream, is becoming fully known, the more atrocious does it appear. It seems he started in his career of crime even before he graduated at McGill College in 1876. Cream was in the habit of making frequent trips to the Eastern Townships and during one of these excursions he became acquainted with the very pretty daughter of a prosperous hotel-keeper of Waterloo. Cream soon became intimate with the girl, whom he ruined under promise of marriage, and they lived together secretly some time. One day

STANLEY'S LATEST BREAK.

He Introduces his Wife at a Meeting as a Descendant of Oliver Cromwell.

LONDON, June 29.—Mr. Henry M. Stanley, who is the Unionist candidate for the House of Commons in the northern division of Lambeth, attended a meeting in that division Tuesday and addressed the electors from a cart. Mr. Stanley was accompanied by his wife.

Referring to the eight-hour movement he said that if he had only worked eight hours a day he would never have been ahead of the Germans in Africa, and would never have added 200,000 square miles of land to British territory.

Mr. Stanley was about to descend from the cart after finishing his speech when he stopped and said: "I had forgotten my duty. Gentlemen, let me introduce my dearly beloved wife, late Miss Dorothy Tennant. She is the descendant of the greatest Liberal the country ever knew—Oliver Cromwell."

This introduction brought forth cheers from the audience.

They Cause Great Disaster and Seriously Injure Several Persons.

GUADALAJARA, June 29.—The people of this city and surrounding country have been in a state of terror for the past two days on account of repeated shocks of earthquakes, which have been the most serious ever felt here.

The first shock occurred on Friday night and lasted 13 seconds, the vibration running from southwest to northeast. The glass in windows were broken and plastering in many buildings was cracked. Hundreds of people took refuge in the streets.

At daylight Saturday morning a second shock occurred, causing great disaster. No less than 100 buildings were completely wrecked. Several persons were seriously injured, but none killed.

Since then several shocks have been felt. The Colima volcano, south of here, is in active eruption.

SHOT DEAD IN THE DOCK.

A Startling Tragedy Before a New York Justice's Eyes.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Max Clerget, a French boy, aged 18, was arraigned before Judge Martine Tuesday on a charge of committing an outrageous assault on Sarah Devens, aged 15.

"Are you guilty, Clerget?" asked the clerk.

"Yes, guilty."

The words had no sooner left his lips than John Devens, the brother of the girl, leaped forward and shot Clerget through the heart and he fell dead in the dock.

Devens was seized by the officers and locked up.

Bled to Death From a Pinhole.

LOUISVILLE, June 29.—From a hole no larger than a pin point James Muller bled to death yesterday. He had been ill for several months. Dr. Moody ascribed his death to the fact that his blood had lost its coagulative power and had become of the quality of milk. The corpses had recently become white. Yesterday morning one of the smallest vessels under the tongue was broken, the point where the blood came from being so small that no danger was apprehended. All efforts, however, to stop the flow proved futile. Every remedy was resorted to, but to no avail, and in less than an hour Mr. Muller had bled to death.

Twins 90 Years Old.

KENNETT SQUARE, Pa., June 29.—The Stackhouse twins, the oldest in the United States, will, if they live until July 29, celebrate their 90th birthday anniversary. They are sisters and natives of New Garden township. They now reside in York County. This venerable pair live together and are still maidens.

struck apparently on the left side of the head, his body burnt and his clothes rent by the lightning.

Some idea of the power of the lightning may be gathered from the fact that some specimens of mineral which had fallen from the dead man's hands when he was struck were partly melted by electricity.

POISONED BY ICE CREAM.

Asbury Park Cottagers and Hotel Guests Kept the Doctors Busy For Many Hours.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Much more serious than was at first supposed was the case of ice cream poisoning at Asbury Park, N.J., proved to be. One hundred and ten persons are now known to have suffered from the effects of the poison, and several cases, though not fatal, have given the physicians plenty to do.

Great excitement has been felt in the town, as the ice cream was distributed among many houses, some even being sent to neighboring towns, and the final results are not known yet. Those who have been the sufferers are nearly all summer cottagers and hotel guests.

It was at first thought that the cream, which came from Frederick Kurrus, at West Asbury Park, had been tampered with, but last night it was said that the poisonous substance in the cream was the result of the uncleanness of the cans in which the milk and cream were stored.

The worst case of poisoning was that of Mrs. Patterson. When the physicians reached her the action of her heart had almost ceased. It took fully three hours to revive her.

Dr. Williamson, who is physician to the Health Board of the village, will make a report on the matter, which will be investigated and samples of the cream analyzed. It is a curious fact that at several of the hotels where the same ice cream was eaten no ill effects were observed. In fact, from one house came an order for more.

TORONTO GRAIN MARKETS.

Business Transacted and Prices of Grain in the Queen City.

TORONTO, June 29.—The receipts of grain on the street yesterday were represented by 200 bushels of wheat at 80c for fall and 75c for spring, and 300 bushels of oats at 32c to 34c. Hay was in fair supply, 40 loads selling at $11 to $14 for timothy and $9 to $10 for clover. Straw sold at $8 to $10. Dressed hogs sold at $6 to $6.25 per cwt.

Business was very dull on call board yesterday. The only offering was a car of oats on track at 32c. Flourisquet at $3.60 to $3.70 for straight roller.

Horse Breeders' Association.

OTTAWA, June 29.—At a meeting of the Immigration Committee Tuesday morning a resolution was passed asking the Government to aid a Horse Breeders' and Sales Association to be started in Canada. This was done in response to numerous delegations to the Government from the association in question.

Adlai, "The Just."

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., June 29.—Gen. Stevenson, Democratic candidate for the Vice-Presidency of the United States, gets his first name, Adlai, from the Bible. If you will turn to I. Chronicles, xxvii, 29, you will find something about Adlai. The word means "The Just."

It is an unusual name, and the Stevenson and Ewing families have had a monopoly of it for several generations.

Stole a $3000 Diamond Pin.

MONTREAL, June 29.—A diamond pin worth $3000 was stolen from the Sherbrooke-street residence of President Van Horne of the C.P.R. a few days ago. Detectives found the pin in the house of a decorator named Lemjoe, who had been employed at Van Horne's house. Lemjoe was allowed to leave the country on the request of Mrs. Van Horne.

A Skeleton of a Sea Cow.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., June 29.—The special treasury agents, just returned from the Russian seal islands on the Siberian coast, have brought back a perfect skeleton of a sea cow, an animal extinct 180 years. The only other specimen is owned by the Czar. The skeleton is 30 feet long and 20 high and was purchased for $150.

Fatal Result of a Fencing Bout.

TORONTO, June 29.—Alexander Sproatt of Milton, a pupil at the Upper Canada College, died last night from a clot of blood in the brain, the result of a foil thrust received on Saturday while fencing with his cousin, another pupil.

together secretly some time. One day Cream told the hotelkeeper that he was going to London to finish his education. Late that night the most heartrending screams were heard from the bedroom of the young woman. Investigation proved that Cream had administered drugs to procure an abortion. They looked for Cream, but found he had gone. The father took the next train for Montreal, secured two policemen and captured Cream. Rural Dean Lindsay was induced to come to the village and in the hotel parlor the marriage took place. Cream stayed several days, professing much solicitude for his wife's condition. Then early one morning he was missing. He left a note saying he had gone to take a course of lectures at St. Thomas' Hospital. He sailed before he could be caught. The girl lingered through the winter, lost her speech and part of her senses. In the spring her speech returned, but her life went with the last days of June.

In June, 1877, Rural Dean Lindsay was in England and he heard, by accident, that Cream was about to marry a young lady, high in social life, rich and beautiful. Mr. Lindsay went to her and told her that he himself had married Cream to a Quebec girl who was still alive.

Not a Standard Bearer.

FRENCH LICK SPRINGS, Ind., June 29.—Judge Walter Q. Gresham will not be the standard-bearer of the People's party in the coming national campaign, having stated positively Tuesday that he will not accept on any account.

Prohibition Convention.

CINCINNATI, O., June 29.—Delegates to the Prohibition National Convention continue to swell the number already registered at the various hotels. There is a probability that Bidwell will be nominated on the first ballot and a remote possibility only that the contest between Bidwell and Demorest may attain such warmth as to make a new man advisable.

The Realization Stakes.

NEW YORK, June 29.—As the time for the decision of the Realization, the greatest and richest 3-year-old event of the year, approaches, interest in the race becomes more intense. The field of horses that will go to the post next Saturday will be one of the best class aggregation of 3-year-olds that ever faced a starter. Among them will be His Highness, Victory, Tammany, The Pepper, Charles and Stratton, all heroes of many hard fought battles; colts whose brilliant achievements in the past give them every right to a trial for the big prize.

The estimated value of the event is $33,565, the second horse to receive $2000, and the third $1000 of the added money. It should be a great race, with the result in doubt until the wire is reached, although on paper His Highness looks to hold the field safe. The probable starters with their weights and jockeys are:

His Highness.....	122.....	Fitzpatrick
The Pepper.....	113.....	Stims
Victory.....	115.....	Taral
Tammany.....	119.....	Garrison
Charles.....	119.....	Bergen
Kennebec.....	112.....	Duggett
Patron.....	124.....	Hayward

For the Henley Regatta.

LONDON, June 29.—Henley prospects next week are none too bright. Some of the university colleges have had great difficulty in making up their crews, as have also the Thames and London clubs, but compensating for this the Dublin men are especially strong and are sending over two good crews to compete. Although the general election will be in full swing during the three days of the regatta it will probably have but little effect upon this great water carnival.

The Thistles Won.

FEROUS, June 29.—The first home game of lacrosse played here in the Northwest District came off Tuesday between the Shelburnes and Thistles of Fergus, resulting in four straights for the Thistles in 5, 14, 2 and 5 minutes respectively.

Results at Washington Park.

CHICAGO, June 29.—First race, 8 1/2 furlongs—The Hero 1, Carmen 2, Lulu May 3. Time 2:13.4.

Second race, 6 furlongs—Content 1, Fred Houston 2, Eugene 3. Time 1:28 1/2.

Third race, 5 furlongs—Quiver 1, Shadow 2, Columbia 3. Time 1:15 1/2.

Fourth race, 9 furlongs—Highland 1, Lew Weir 2, Two starters. Time 2:33 1/2.

Fifth race, 3 1/4 mile, first heat—Big Three 1, Knott in it 2. Two starters. Time 1:51.

COMMERCIAL PROGRESS

All the Colonies Represented—Lord Knutsford Welcomes the Delegates—What the Program Sets Forth.

LONDON, June 29.—The second Congress of the Chamber of Commerce of the British Empire opened at 10 o'clock in Merchant Tailors Hall, one of the richest corporations in Threadneedle-street. Sir John Lubbock, president of the London Chamber of Commerce, presided and, assisted by the committee, welcomed the delegates sent from every portion of the British Empire. The Right Hon. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, President of the Board of Trade, is vice-president of the Congress.

Lord Brassey offered a resolution, which was adopted, declaring that in the opinion of this congress it is expedient that a practical arrangement should, if possible, be devised to secure closer commercial union between the Mother Country and her colonies and dependencies.

Sir John Lubbock, in behalf of the London Chamber of Commerce, offered a resolution favoring a free trade union of Great Britain and her colonies.

Sir Charles Tupper moved as an amendment the resolution of the Montreal Chamber of Commerce, which was adopted by the Canadian delegates as a whole, in favor of slight differential duties.

Sir Charles' speech carried away the congress, all the Canadians being most enthusiastic in its support.

Sir Donald Smith seconded the amendment.

Mr. Wood of Hamilton made a speech in favor of free trade between Canada and Great Britain.

Many of the British delegates applauded Sir Charles Tupper's proposal, while others declared the increase in the price of food would be a fatal objection.

At the afternoon session J. X. Perrault of Montreal and P. H. Burton of Toronto strongly supported a preferential tariff.

Sir John Lubbock's motion was adopted.

The Program.

The program of the Congress includes:

Discussion of the commercial relations of the Mother Country with her colonies and possessions, with special regard to the renewal of European treaties and recent commercial legislation in the United States;

Board of conciliation for labor disputes;

The codification of the commercial law of the Empire;

Imperial regulation of trade-marks and the adoption throughout the Empire of the merchandise mark act;

Bills of lading reform, factory legislation throughout the Empire;

Commercial education, including scheme initiated by the London Chamber of Commerce;

Emigration and colonization;

The necessity of an Imperial system of decimal currency;

Weights and measures;

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE REDISTRIBUTION BILL PASSES THE HOUSE.

Various Amendments Were Proposed But All Were Voted Down—The Criminal Code Amendment Act Also Passes—Business of the Commons Practically Completed.

OTTAWA, June 29.—The fact that at the morning and afternoon session of the House the Redistribution Bill and the Criminal Code both passed through their final stages in committee, and were read a third time and passed, is the best possible evidence that a good day's work has been done, and it may now be considered that prorogation next week is placed beyond peradventure.

Sir John Thompson moved that the Redistribution Bill, after its passage, go into effect upon the dissolution of the present Parliament, which was carried.

On the second reading Sir Richard Cartwright moved his motion, which he had given notice of and which was to unite the two Grenvilles, Frontenac and Lennox, which would provide for the two additional members given to Ontario and that the other constituencies in the province be undisturbed.

Hiram Calvin, the new member for Frontenac and successor to the Hon. G. A. Kirkpatrick, protested against the amalgamation of the four counties. He accused Sir Richard of desiring to benefit his many business interests by uniting them.

The amendment of Sir Richard Cartwright was lost by 51 to 90.

The House divided on a motion of Mr. Yeo to stick to county lines in Prince Edward. It was lost by 54 to 87. Messrs. Maclean of East York, Weldon and Dickey voted for the amendment.

After luncheon Mr. Bechard moved an amendment to the effect that the two parishes taken from Missisquoi and placed in St. Johns and Iberville be replaced in Missisquoi. Lost by a vote of 54 to 89 against Messrs. Pope, Pelletier and LePine voted with the minority.

Mr. Pelletier then moved an amendment to the effect that the Indian village of Caughmawaga be replaced in the county of Napierville and Laprairie, which was lost on division, and at 4 o'clock Mr. Speaker had the pleasure of announcing that the Redistribution Bill was passed.

The Criminal Code.

The clauses of the Criminal Code which had been reserved from time to time were then taken up.

What is

CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Dr. G. C. Osmond,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. KINCHLOE,
Conway, Ar.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

SINGER The old and reliable Singer Sewing Machine Co. have again opened shop in the old place of business in

Commercial education, including scheme initiated by the London Chamber of Commerce;
Emigration and colonization;
The necessity of an Imperial system of decimal currency;
Weights and measures;
The International Monetary Union;
A system of Imperial penny postage;
Direct telegraphic communication throughout the Empire;
Indian taxation;
Light railways;
The abolition of light dues and treaties of commerce with native tribes and territorial delimitation.

This is a longer program by nine subjects than that discussed by the first Congress, which met on July 6 and 7, 1886, when 98 chambers of commerce and other commercial associations, home and colonial, were represented.

KILLED AT THE SUPPER TABLE.

Fellow Boarders Engage in a Quarrel Which Results in Murder.

THOR, N.Y., June 29.—William Wesson, 21 years old, was murdered last night while sitting at the supper table in his boarding-house in St. John-street, South Troy.

Thomas Jones, aged 66, a fellow boarder, is charged with the crime. Both worked at the wire mills. They were the only occupants of the room when Wesson was killed.

Jones had been drinking during the day and had not been at work. He and Wesson quarrelled, it is said, over a trivial matter, after which Jones left the room. He soon returned with a revolver which he had taken from his bedroom and, without further dispute, aimed it at Wesson and fired.

The bullet entered Wesson's brain, killing him instantly. Jones is now under arrest. Wesson came to this country from England last fall and has no relatives in the United States.

The prisoner is a native of Wales and has been in this country 27 years. The two men had quarrelled several times before when Jones had been drinking. On Saturday, it is said, the prisoner asked Wesson to fight a duel.

WORK OF FIREBUGS.

Incendiarists Burn Hay Bros.' Flour Mill at Listowel.

LISTOWEL, Ont., June 29.—Although since the attempt to burn Hay Bros.' flour mill 10 days ago extra precautions against incendiarism have been taken, the firebugs succeeded yesterday in their attempt, and both flour mill and elevator, together with 200,000 bushels of grain, were destroyed. The mill was fired in four different places.

The estimated loss on the mill is: Building and machinery $20,000, and insurance $12,000; on stock $18,000, and insurance $15,000.

Toronto Man Burned Out.

MONTREAL, June 29.—At 10 o'clock yesterday morning the residence of E. C. Mann of The Jewelers' Guide was completely gutted by fire. The loss is estimated at $880, a portion of the furniture being saved. The building itself was damaged to the extent of $1500.

Fashionable Ottawa Marriage.

OTTAWA, June 29.—A fashionable event of the summer was the marriage at Grace Church yesterday of Miss Annie White, daughter of late Hon. Thomas White, to Rev. W. H. Green of Whitewood, N.W.T. The ceremony was performed by Dean Carmichael of Montreal, assisted by Rev. Mr. Gorman. The groom was supported by Mr. Agar Adamson as best man, Messrs. W. E. Christie and W. C. Hodson of Montreal and E. F. Taylor of Ottawa acting as ushers. Miss Laura White was maid of honor and Misses Mabel Macrae, Minnie Barclay and Mabel Hodson of Montreal and Muriel Burrow and Jessie White of Ottawa were bridesmaids.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of Mrs. Thomas White. The happy couple left by afternoon train for Montreal, whence they proceed to Whitewood by way of Chicago and St. Paul.

Escaped From the Constable.

HAMILTON, June 29.—Thomas Gray, wanted for assault, was being conveyed by Constable Littlehales from the jail to the Police Court yesterday, when he suddenly remarked, "Well, bye-bye, John, I don't think I shall go up to court with you today," and before the astonished officer could make any attempt to secure him he was off and is still at large.

Fell To His Death.

HAMILTON, June 29.—At noon yesterday Thomas Shaw, aged 65, fell from the roof of a new house he was shingling in Park-street, and died in a few minutes from the injuries received.

The Criminal Code.

The clauses of the Criminal Code which had been reserved from time to time were then taken up.

Section 125 relating to the publication of false news was amended so as to read as follows: "Every one is guilty of an indictable offence, and liable to one year's imprisonment, who wilfully and knowingly publishes any false news or tale whereby injury or mischief is or is likely to be occasioned."

Section 130 was amended to include members of Parliament and of the Provincial Legislatures, and now reads as follows: "Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to 14 years' imprisonment, who, holding any judicial office or being a member of Parliament or of a Legislature, corruptly accepts or obtains or agrees to accept or attempts to obtain for himself or any other person any money or valuable consideration, office, place or employment on account of anything already done or to be afterwards done or omitted by him in his judicial capacity or in his capacity as such member of Parliament or of the Legislature, or corruptly gives or offers to any such person or to any other person any such bribe as aforesaid on account of any such act or omission."

Clause 205, relating to lotteries, was amended so as to change the penalty for selling lottery tickets from 20 to 2 years' imprisonment or $2000 fine, and provision was made that any one buying a ticket shall be liable to a fine of $20. A new sub-clause was added exempting from the operation of the clause any company or association incorporated or authorized by the Parliament of Canada or any local Legislature to run a lottery.

The effect of these clauses if enforced will be to prohibit the sale of foreign lottery tickets and give a monopoly to those lotteries already authorized by the Province of Quebec.

Railway Subsidies.

The railway subsidies were brought down to-night. They are very long and amount altogether to over $5,000,000, but by far the greatest part are re-votes, and the new subsidies only amount to about $1,500,000.

OTTAWA, June 29.—The dull routine of the "strictly business" sessions of the morning and afternoon was broken last night by about three hours of the liveliest kind of a debate on the Caron charges, which was started by Sir Richard Cartwright on the motion to go into supply and continued by Sir John Thompson, Hon. Mr. Laurier and Hon. Mr. Oulmont. There was no amendment offered and no vote was taken. The matter was simply talked out and then the House got into supply and passed items until midnight, when it adjourned until Thursday.

Tom Murray Defeated By Nearly Seven Hundred Majority.

OTTAWA, June 29.—The election in Pontiac County yesterday for the seat rendered vacant by the unseating of Thomas Murray (Liberal) resulted in the election of John Bryson (Conservative), the former member, over Murray, who was again a candidate, by 696 majority.

Murray's majority at the general election, when two Conservatives ran, was 110.

A Trip to Death.

WINDSOR, June 29.—Mrs. Luke Montreuil, aged 72, tripped over some wire netting on the street Tuesday, and received injuries which will probably result fatally.

INTERESTING ITEMS BY WIRE.

An Englishman named E. N. Smith jumped off Beachy Head, near Eastbourne, Sussex, and alighted on the rocks 600 feet below. He was smashed to fragments.

The Afghans lost 1500 men, killed and wounded, in the recent fight against the Hazars.

By the burning of three tenement houses in Bercy, a Paris suburb, yesterday, 12 persons were suffocated and many others injured.

John Morley, replying to an enquiry from the independent branch of the Irish National League, declines to raise the question of the freedom of Irish dynamites.

Dr. Talmage and wife lunched with the Earl of Aberdeen yesterday and then drove to Aldershot and witnessed a review of the troops.

Since it became certain that the injury to Mr. Gladstone was in all probability the result of heedlessness the public excitement on the subject has calmed down considerably.

Some of the lower newspapers, organs of both parties, are descending to great scurrility and many of the cartoons circulated in the provinces are almost indecent. A Radical newspaper in Yorkshire depicts Balfour as an assassin bearing a dagger dripping with Irish blood. Another pictures Salisbury as an ogre devouring the people.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

Perth, June 24.—Dr. John K. McKinley who was struck by lightning last week, has written a letter to the Expositor giving an account of his unique experience. The doctor says:—"As the employment of electricity for capital punishment has been attracting a good deal of attention among scientists of late, it might be of interest, if not of actual benefit, to narrate an occurrence which happened last Thursday near Perth, to myself and three companions. Making a visit to the farm of my brother, he with his two men were cultivating a crop of potatoes, when a thunder shower suddenly arose, and to escape getting wet, the three hid behind a large granite rock near a green maple tree, myself standing under an umbrella quite close to the others. As the shower was drawing to a close the lightning seemed to be so near as to call forth some remark, and then suddenly I experienced a sensation or knowledge of something happening, followed by

COMPLETE OBLIVIOUSNESS.

After a period of probably five or ten minutes as nearly as can be ascertained, light and returning consciousness prompted me to look around at my companions. They were lying close together, evidently dead. On a closer examination the eyelids twitched slightly as well as the muscles of the legs and arms. I realized at once that the cause of the disaster was a lightning stroke and set about trying to resuscitate them with such means as I had at my disposal, and was soon rewarded by knowing that one at least was slowly though surely gaining. The other two, though they regained slightly at first, seemed the second time to sink, the face becoming pale the lips and eyelids blue, but after another shaking up the circulation again started afresh and recovery was gradual from that time onward. To sum up, I myself, must have been altogether insensible for at least five to ten minutes. One of the others was a full half hour before he or could stand without support. The other two were fully three quarters of an hour before they could use their limbs or understand what had happened and all three were far from being natural for some hours after they received the stroke. In none of the cases was there any pain or discomfort experienced until consciousness returned them, the two most hurt felt a sickening of the stomach, which ended in vomiting about an hour after the accident. The third experienced a partial paralysis of one leg which was burned and blistered, and the only feeling I had was as if I had received a blow on the side of the head. The pupils of the eyes were strongly contracted and their pulses rapid and weak in all the cases.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR.

To the Editor of the Express.

Sir,—Allow me to propose that the minority candidate (at the last municipal election) for the office of Deputy reeve, be appointed to fill the office for the remaining part of the term, by acclamation.

I do this for the following reasons. 1st. Fair to the electors, as the persons who voted for Mr Wilson, and those who voted for Mr Symington are nearly equal in numbers, and as the Wilson men have had their candidate in for six months, it is only fair that the Symington men should have their candidate in for six months, it is only fair that the Symington men should have their candidate in for six months. 2nd, no political significance. The appointment would not change the political complexion of either town or county councils; especially as the appointments are all made. 3rd, Consistent. The appointment would be in accordance with the line of policy adopted by the county by compromise. 4th, economy. It would save the town the cost of an election. 5th, Just to Mr Wilson. As Mr Wilson has seen fit to cast the favours received from the town back into her lap, it is only just that they should be now offered to his opponent.

Yours truly Citizen.

CAN I AFFORD A NEW DRESS.

Thousands of ladies are continually asking themselves this question, and many of them find it difficult to satisfactorily answer it.

The lady who has but an ordinary income to depend upon for the maintenance of house and family, is apt to debate long upon this important question before a final resolve is made. Even should the way seem clear to warrant such an item of expenditure, regret afterwards expressed when it was found that the money was more needed in another direction.

To the thousands of ladies of Canada, with whom this question is one of perplexity and grave doubt; we would remind them of the fact, that an agent comes to their rescue and assistance, known as Fast Black Diamond Dyes for wool, which can remove all doubt, and give to the heart its wish. At the present time Black dresses are fashionable for the best dressed ladies. Old and young—the blonde and brunette, always look stylish when wearing a neatly made Black dress.

Let us strongly recommend you to take what you now call,—"my old, soiled and faded light-colored Cashmere, Serge, Soleil Cloth or Nun's Cloth dress" and buy a package or two of Fast Black Diamond Dye for Wool, follow closely the directions and with very little trouble and loss of time, and for an expense of from ten to twelve cents, you will have a lovely, rich Black dress, equal to new, and the satisfaction of knowing that you have saved a snug amount of money. If you have never tried this operation before, rest assured your work, and the results, will agreeably surprise you.

While engaged at the pleasant work of home-dyeing, remember the fact that, you may also do some work for the "Diamond Dye Competition," in which large cash prizes are offered. You can easily make up some of the articles called for, and send them in with every chance of success. It costs nothing to try, and the advantages are all in your favor. All information and a book of rules sent post free to any address by the Wells & Richardson Co., Montreal.

A REASONABLE PROPOSAL.

The Redistribution bill will not have passed all its obstacles even when it gets into the peaceful atmosphere of the Senate, for Hon. Mr. Boulton gives notice that he will move when the bill comes before the upper house "that it be referred to the Supreme court for an expression of opinion as to its constitutionality, upon the grounds that parliament should arrange the mode upon which the redistribution shall be made, while leaving it to experts to carry out its wishes according to clause 51, of the British North American act."

No Man Can Tell.

Why the sale of St. Jacobs Oil is greater than that of any other medicine, and ten times greater than that of all other liniments and embrocations combined. Yet the question is easily answered—it is because of the actual merit which the Oil possesses, together with the fact that the Proprietors advertise it to cure only such diseases and ailments as it will actually cure. St. Jacobs Oil conquers pain; it acts like magic; it is wholly an outward application. It positively cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Gout, Sciatica, Sprains and soreness.

A Terrible Case of Suffering.

The dreadful suffering of a man with Cholera Morbus was painfully illustrated in New York a few days ago, when an individual from the rural districts who had been filling himself with all sorts of good but indigestible things was struck down on Broadway and had to be carried into a hotel, where two doctors worked him for an hour before he was out of danger. A teaspoonful or two of Perry Davis' Pain Killer, and a flannel cloth saturated with the medicine and applied to his stomach, would have relieved him almost instantly. Get 25c. New Big Bottle.

Fire at Bath.

About 9 o'clock last Wednesday night the villagers of Bath were startled by an alarm of fire, and almost immediately smoke was seen to issue from the second storey of Daniel McBride's large frame building on the corner of Main and Davy streets. The west end was occupied by Mr. McBride as a grocery on the ground floor and residence at the back and on the second storey. The west end was unoccupied. Nearly all the furniture was saved with little damage. The fire was caused by the upsetting of a coal oil lamp. The insurance on the building was $1,000 in the Mercantile Fire Insurance Company of Waterloo. At one time it was feared that the fire would reach across Davy street, but the pail brigade, laboring under great difficulties, kept a constant stream of water upon the roofs of the nearest buildings and —On Saturday evening a very exciting race took place between the steamers Hero and Rocket. The latter left Picton for Belleville a few minutes ahead and was beaten before Deseronto was reached. The boats were received by a large crowd of people, many of whom thought the Rocket could beat the Hero's time easily. They started for Belleville on time, and the Hero arrived first. She defeated the Rocket by about fourteen minutes on the trip from Picton to Belleville. There has been a good deal of talk about these boats, but this is the first trial of speed they have had. This morning Mr. Cleveland said: "I would certainly be chargeable with dense insensibility if I were not profoundly touched by this new proof of the confidence and trust of the great party to which I belong and whose mandates claim my loyal obedience. I am confident that our fellow countrymen are ready to receive with approval the principles of true Democracy and I cannot rid myself of the belief that to win success, it is only necessary to persistently and honestly advocate these principles. Differ ones of opinion and judgment in Democratic convention are by no means unwholesome in some directions but it is hardly conceivable in view of the importance of our success to the country and to the party that there should be any where among Democrats any lack of harmonious and active effort to win in the campaign which opens before us. I have therefore no concern on that subject. It will certainly be my constant endeavor to preserve the support of every Democrat." Birthdays Twelve Years Apart.

upon the roofs of the nearest buildings and prevented the spread of the fire.

The Latest Swindle.

The latest swindle is carried on by means of a double fountain pen, one end of which is filled with good substantial ink, the other with ink that fades away in a day or two. The sharper writes the agreement, contract or whatever he may have chosen with ink that will not last. In a few days he has a slip of paper with nothing but a signature, over which he can write a note and easily turn it into cash.

Another new swindle is being worked among the farmers by a sharper. He canvassed the neighborhood some time ago taking orders for evergreens. The order is given for a box of shrubs a foot square to contain about fifty plants or so at five cents each. But when the foot square box comes to hand it contains in some instances 2,500 plants costing $125 instead of $50 for $2 50. It is estimated that at least $50,000 will be taken out of the vicinity of St. Mary's by the swindle, if the farmers do not succeed in the suit entered against the proprietor of the nursery at St. Catharines who supplies the evergreens.—Brussels Post.

Employees Excursion.

On Saturday last the annual excursion of the employees of the Bay of Quinte Ry. took place to the Thousand Islands and Alexandria Bay. The morning was pleasant and a gay party started from Deseronto, swelling its numbers at Napane, Napane Mills, Newburgh, and other points, especially at Yarker, where the Tweed contingent joined the crowd of pleasure seekers, accompanied by their violinist, who furnished music along the route. There was a smart Aleck aboard also, who was showing himself off generally, and managed at last to lose his hat. The boys didn't laugh or anything; perhaps not. Kingston was reached in good time and the well-known steamer Maud was found waiting. The party was soon on board and a very pleasant time was had on that oft-described trip down the river. Alexandria Bay was reached at about one o'clock, and the visitors dispersed for an hour to do the town. The boat's whistle soon collected the crowd for the homeward journey, and in viewing the diversified loveliness offered on either hand, the Limestone city was reached all too soon. The train was soon loaded up again, and a pleasant trip was rounded off with nothing of consequence to mar its continual enjoyment. There was a little grumbling at Yarker, caused by the delay in shunting, but the managers of the road are considering the advisability of making some changes at this point which will obviate present difficulties. Many thanks and much praise are due the managers of the B. of Q. Ry. for the handsome treatment accorded the boys on this occasion.—Yours, etc., ONE OF THE BOYS.

Dairying.

Prof. McKeown delivered a very practical address to farmers and others in the Council Chamber, Napane, on Thursday evening of last week. The address was principally intended for Patrons of cheese factories. The attendance was rather slim. The professor pointed out the differences of summer and winter dairying, showing results to be obtained from the same number of cows a stable fed and grass fed during the summer months the advantage being in favour of the stable fed animals. True there was plenty of grass just now, but later on there might be a grass shortage, consequently the farmer who provided for such contingencies was sure to come out ahead in the long run. He is the practical farmer. The profits of stable fed animals as compared with those on the meadow was two to one in favour of the stable cows. The professor spoke highly of the Babcock milk tester, saying it would no doubt come into general use. He showed that the farmer whose milk only showed three per cent of fat should not receive as much for his milk per cwt. as the farmer whose milk showed four per cent. He also showed that the cow which was properly fed during the winter months was the more profitable in the summer, thus the farmer was remunerated for his care and outlay. The professor was very hard on the man who met his neighbor on friendly terms day by day and was at the same time stabbing him in the back by sending adulterated milk to the cheese factory such adulteration being accomplished either by the addition of water or by skimming. This was the meanest kind of sneaking. The Professor was glad to know that the farmers of this section were going into the building of silos, and showed the good resulting from winter feeding from the same. A vote of thanks was tendered to the Professor for his very interesting and instructive address.

The Examination.
At Napanee one hundred and eighteen appeared for entrance and nine for public school leaving. The latter is a new examination established with the view of encouraging a higher standard of education in localities without High Schools. The course embraces English poetical literature, grammar, composition, arithmetic, mensuration, history, geography, drawing, book-keeping and penmanship; also hygiene and agriculture as optional subjects. The County Board has adopted this examination as the literary portion of the examinations for teachers in the weak sections of the rear townships. The government will grant a bonus to schools passing candidates at this examination.

The Toronto Industrial Fair.
The Prize List for this year's Industrial Fair to be held at Toronto, from the 5th to the 17th September, has been issued. Many changes have been made in the various classes, and about $2,000 added to the amount of prizes offered last year. The Association have obtained about fifty acres more ground, and a new half-mile track will be constructed, and a monster new grand stand capable of seating over 12,000 people is to be erected in time for the Fair. New stables and cattle pens are also to be erected and many other improvements made at a cost of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. This year's Fair will evidently be a great one. For copies of the Prize List drop a post card to Mr. H. J. Hill, Manager, Toronto.

THE ADDRESS.
TO THE REV. JOSEPH J. RAE.—
DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—The Young People's Association, on behalf of the congregation of Napanee Western Methodist Church, beg to extend to yourself and Mrs. Rae, a cordial welcome to our church, our homes, and our organizations. In the policy and practice of the Methodist Church in this country its ministers are systematically and with short intervals between removals, called upon to sever their connections with their loved fields of labor and go with their wives and dependent children, they scarcely know whither, but usually to go among strangers, to strange surroundings and unknown conditions.

We wish, therefore, at the outset of your sojourn with us, to assure you that although in one sense we may be strangers to you, yet in a larger and better sense, you have come to meet friends, brothers, and sisters. The tongue of good report had spoken in your favor before our Official Board extended to you an invitation to the pastorate of this church. We had heard of your usefulness on other fields of labor, and that you preached the unsearchable riches of the Gospel of Jesus Christ acceptably, with the grand aim in view to raise men and women above the grovelling influences of this world, and to place them upon a common level of Christian integrity. We were therefore gratified when the Conference gave effect to the Board's invitation. We earnestly hope that you may find your associations pleasant with us, and that your work may be greatly blessed here, both to yourself and to us. Again heartily welcoming you and yours to our midst and bespeaking for yourself and family a pleasant term of residence with us in Napanee we close these words of greeting.

IN MEMORIAM.

To Mr and Mrs Henry Milling in memory of their son George, who Died June 20th 1892.

Baby! thou art gone dear baby,
Peaceful in thy slumber lay
Gently to the grave we bore thee,
Laid thee from our sight away.

Darling! thou art gone forever,
Nevermore thy cry we'll hear;
Gone to happy homes above us,
Far from sorrow, pain or fear.

Long e'er sin could mar thy beauty,
Or oppress thy heart with care;
Jesus came and thou did leave us,
For to dwell with him o'er there.

Still we know that God in wisdom
Took thy angel spirit home;
Took thee from this world of Sorrow,
From the evils yet to come.

Now thy little hands will beckon;
Beckon from the distant skies;
And long as we here shall tarry,
Oft we'll wipe our weeping eyes.

Darling! many times we'll miss thee
While we on this earth shall dwell;
But amid life's cares and trials,
We will sigh farewell! farewell.

And well we know that Christ our Lord
Conveys our little angels home;
He saves them from the downward
road,
From all the evils yet to come.

Once more farewell, dear darling boy
For we on earth must longer dwell,
While shouts of joy thy lips employ,
We'll sound a long, a last farewell.

Every Province has felt its Wonderful Effects.

It can be safely asserted, that no other remedy has so quickly met with favor and approbation in Canada, like Harvard Bronchial Syrup. Every province in the Dominion has felt its wonderful effects. Men and women ask for it, and will take no other; and druggists find it to their advantage to keep it in stock, so great is the demand.

A Lower Province druggist says:—"Our people ask for Harvard Bronchial Syrup, and will have no other. Of course I am aware of its good qualities, and do not feel surprised at the large and increasing sales."

An Ontario druggist writes:—"Send me another gross of Harvard Bronchial Syrup. It is the best cough and cold remedy I ever sold. All my customers speak well of it, and recommend it to their friends."

A Winnipeg druggist writes:—"Harvard Bronchial Syrup is taking the place of all the other cough remedies in this city. Once used it always becomes the favorite, owing to its very prompt action."

A St. John, N.B., druggist says:—"Your great cough, croup and throat remedy, Harvard Bronchial Syrup, is meeting with phenomenal success here. It is a most valuable preparation, and must become the best seller in every drug store. It certainly deserves success."

McAlister & Co

Health Department.

A Good Suggestion.—By constipation is mean irregular action of the bowels, often called costiveness, and commonly caused by dyspepsia, neglect, excess in eating or drinking, etc. It is a serious complaint and not to be neglected under any circumstances, as it leads to impure blood, headache, dizziness, fever, etc. A uniformly successful remedy is Burdock Blood Bitters, which, if faithfully tried, never fails to effect a prompt and lasting cure even in the worst cases. The following extract from a letter from Mr. Jas. M. Carson, Banff, N. W. T. will speak for itself: "I have been troubled with constipation and general debility and was induced to use your B. B. through seeing your advertisement. I now take great pleasure in recommending it to all my friends, as it completely cured me."

—Itch on human and horses and all animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by Perry & Co., Druggists.

—A few nights ago a Mrs. Corkey, of Barrieffield, near Kingston, hid $30 in the stove, fearing burglars. In the morning the $30 helped to light the fire for breakfast.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.

The Most Effectual Cure For Gout and Rheumatism.—A frequent cause of these complaints is the inflammatory state of the blood, attended with bad digestion, lassitude, and great debility, showing the want of a proper circulation of the fluid, and that impurity of the blood greatly aggravates these disorders. Holloway's Pills are of so purifying a nature that a few doses taken in time are an effectual preventive against gout and rheumatism, but anyone that has an attack of either should use Holloway's Ointment also, the powerful properties of which combined with the effects of the Pills, ensure a certain cure. The Ointment should be thoroughly rubbed into the parts affected at least twice a day, after they have been sufficiently fomented with warm water to open the pores to facilitate the introduction of the Ointment to the glands.

MYRRH AND FRANKINCENSE.

"One frequently hears of Frankincense and Myrrh," said a botanist to a newspaper reporter, but few people know what they are. Both of them are gum resins obtained from trees that grow in Arabia and South-Western Asia. Frankincense in China has always been considered a remedy for leprosy; and myrrh taken medicinally is believed to act upon the appetite and digestion."

"The majority of people have little to do with either myrrh or frankincense in the ordinary walks of life. They may possess medicinal qualities of value in disease, but up to the present time very little is heard of them. Our people however, have a knowledge of one of the most important agents of modern times—Harvard Bronchial Syrup—a remedy more precious to sufferers from colds, coughs, croup, irritation and inflammation of the throat, than are caravans of frankincense and myrrh."

The ordinary every-day cold and sore throat requires a remedy prompt in action and safe and reliable; this is found only in that wonderful mixture that our people call "Harvard Bronchial Syrup." It cures every time; no complaints are ever made of failures when it is used. Physicians, clergymen, lawyers and business men strongly recommend it.

We say with confidence to all, provide a bottle for this treacherous and changeable weather. Use it at once if affected in the slightest degree with cough and sore throat and you will escape serious consequences.

The Dreaded Lo Gippe.

Following this scourge of humanity come a train of evils in the shape of obstinate colds, coughs, lung troubles, etc. There is no remedy so prompt, and at the same time effectual, and pleasant, as Milburn's Cod Liver Oil Emulsion with Wild Cherry and Hypophosphites, which is the latest and best combination of anti-consumptive remedies. Price 50c. a d. $1.00 per bottle.
